

SIADO Organization is committed to nurturing a greener future. Recently, we visited Green Hope University to contribute to this mission. By donating flowers and plants, we aim to foster a more vibrant and sustainable campus. Together with students, lecturers, and our dedicated staff, we planted the seeds of change, transforming the university grounds into a flourishing oasis.

Our organization aims to engage all Mogadishu universities in raising awareness about the critical impacts of climate change in Somalia. By working together, we can inspire action and protect our planet for future generations

So, if you're looking to make a difference, consider supporting organizations like SIADO. Plant a tree, spread the word, and let's build a sustainable future together. Thanks for watching! Remember, every small action counts. Stay green, and stay hopeful!
